Dear Mr. Biggers:

In a nutshell, our foster parents described your presentation as "honest... riveting... and powerful." Not only were the participants given relevant and fascinating information, but lives were changed. You handled this difficult subject with the skill of a literary surgeon and we trust that the transformations will be both beneficial and healing.

Many of the evaluation forms contained high praise for your Race Relations Board Game. Obviously, this is an innovative tool that stimulates thought and discussion. We look forward towards integrating your Board Game into our on-going cultural diversity trainings.

Once again, thank you for your enlightening presentation. We anxiously await your upcoming training event next month.

Yours truly,

Robert A. Long, LSW
Director of Training
